25X1 3. Since [] is attending a 9-week career course, the CIA/OSR action officer for this task is Mr. [] 25X1 [] He and I had been in regular contact prior to the meeting and since he was unable to attend, I agreed to represent him. We had both agreed that support to the USAIS should come primarily from the military services. In this regard, I mentioned at the Monday meeting that the services should have first choice as to the discussion topics they felt most comfortable with and to which they could contribute the most. CIA then would attempt to fill-in the gaps left by the military intelligence agencies. As can be seen from the foregoing list of topics, none of the services felt they had anything to contribute to Soviet Airborne/ Airmobile tactics, Electronic warfare, or Soviet employment of [] equipment. Unfortunately, we subsequently discovered that CIA/OSR is in the same position and is unable to contribute any useful information on these topics to the people at Fort 25X1 Benning. [] and I are also in agreement that it would be most desirable for the team to include representatives from all principal agencies in the Intelligence Community.
25X1 In order to be able to send a man who would have something to contribute, [] has suggested some alternative topics such as Soviet Tank Tactics or Soviet Tactical Nuclear Doctrine. These alternative topics have been suggested to 25X1 [] and he is checking to see if they would be useful.

4. Early in the Monday meeting, both [] and the Army ACSI representative requested confirmation of the D/DCI/IC offer to provide assistance in TDY funding for the trip. Based upon my brief conversation with you the preceding Friday, I committed you to provide travel and per diem funds for one Army analyst from Charlottesville to Fort Benning and return and, travel and per diem funds for a second Army analyst (from MIA) from Huntsville, Alabama to Fort Benning and return. I have subsequently been in contact with Alan Mayer and I believe he is working on the problem.

5. It was tentatively agreed at the Monday meeting that the interagency team should visit Fort Benning during the period 14-16 May. Each analyst to proceed independently.

6. Another Interagency meeting is scheduled to be held in DIA tomorrow, 25 April. At this meeting, we hope to firm-up plans and details for the trip.
